LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF ALABAMA
COFFEE COUNTY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF COFFEE COUNTY, ELBA
DIVISION

TO THE HON. BOWEN W. SIMMONS, Special Judge of said Court:

We, the Grand Jury, empaneled by Your Honor on August 3rd, 1950, hereby submit our final report.

We have investigated 39 pre-arrestments, and return herewith 16 indictments, consisting of 11 felonies and 5 misdemeanors.

On our inspection of the Jail Property, we found the same to be clean and well kept. The property is in fair condition with the exception of some windows that are in need of repair.

We have inspected the books and records of the County Office, and find them to be neatly and orderly kept.

On our inspection of the Court house, several things were noted that should be done. The wiring all through the Courthouse appears to be defective and should be checked by an expert to determine whether said defects are dangerous. We suggest that the Commissioners' Court have this matter attended to at their earliest convenience. More lights are needed in the vault of the Probate Office, and additional outlets are needed in the Tax Collector's office. It was observed that the floor in the Tax Assessor's office is in need of repair. That portion of the roof over the Health Office and the Collector's office appears to be leaking very badly. This roof damage is done to the building. It is recommended that consideration be given to furnishing blinds to the Sheriff's office and the Health Office. The office of the Superintendent of Education needs repainting. It was also observed that several window panes are out of the windows. These panes should be replaced.

It has been observed by the Grand Jury that the Court yard has not been leveled since the repair was done. It is recommended that the Court yard be leveled.

Fire Insurance Co. Is Formed Here

Elba is becoming an important insurance center.

At a meeting held Monday evening the Emergency Aid Fire Insurance Company became a reality. It will open for business on or about Sept. 1, with offices in the Emergency Aid Insurance Company building. The same office personnel will be used for the new company as is being used now.

The following officers and board were elected: J. R. Clark, president; Miss Lallie Harper, secretary-treasurer; directors: J. R. Clark, president; Dr. E. G. Bragg, vice-president; Mrs. W. M. Brunson, vice-president; Mrs. W. M. Brunson, vice-president; Miss Lallie Harper, secretary-treasurer.

The company will have a capital of $100,000 and a surplus of $50,000.

The Emergency Aid Insurance Co. has many thousands of dollars in loans, all of which are insured against fire, so the new fire insurance company is assured of starting off with a large volume of business. The life insurance company has some 125 agents in the field pretty well covering the state of Alabama. They will add the writing of fire insurance policies to their business.

President Clark said

RECORD ARRESTS

Police Chief J. W. Parker reports that approximately 30 arrests were made by his department during the first 12 days of August, which was a near record in Elba police annals for this length of time. The arrests included traffic violations, such as running through red lights, speeding, other traffic violations and a general variety of law infractions. Chief Parker said he did not believe law violation was rampant during the first 12 days of this month but his department had made a special effort to enforce the law.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR DANIEL G. KING

Funeral services for Daniel G. King, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. King of Coffee County, were held Monday afternoon at the Pine Level Primitive Baptist Church near Elba. The Rev. J. J. Richards officiated. Pallbearers were Frances Knighton, Bill McCard, Ira Stripling, Dayton Whaley, Ray Livingston and Bennie Sheppard. Daniel King was found with a bullet wound in his head Aug. 1 at his home in Phenix, Ala. where he had lived for the past nine years. He was found by his mother, Mrs. C. L. King, when she returned home from work. Russell County Coroner Ralph B. Thornhill said a final decision on the inquest was being delayed pending further investigation. Mr. King was taken to a Phenix City hospital where he died several hours after admission. Interment was in Pine Level Cemetery with Colonial Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

HE Planned This Way, Girls!

1950's Bride Leads Her Man To The Altar — But It Seems He Chose the Rings

Check your jewelry, girls, and he'll tell you it's true — 1950's bridegroom not only is buying the wedding rings, he's even selecting them — because he's going to wear one himself!

It might almost be said that today's bridegroom "planned it that way," except that his bride will confide to her intimate friends that she did the planning and merely respected his wish about the wedding bands. The wish was for "a simple design, and it was granted."

SHAKE WELL AFTER TAKING

Long Awaited Whooping Crane Born, Killed

AUSTWELL, Tex. — Bird lovers throughout the world were thrilled with the announcement that the first whooping crane ever born in captivity had hatched near Austwell. The joy, however, was short lived because the baby crane, named Rusty, disappeared within a few days and is believed to have been killed. Bird lovers had been hoping for a long-legged hopper for years, because whoopers are all but extinct. There are only 37 of the cranes, tallest birds native to North America, throughout the world. A special refuge was established near Austwell in the hope the birds would multiply. Some time ago, a pair of love-smitten whooping cranes named Josephine and Crip raised hopes that soon there would be 38 in their family. Josephine built a nest and laid an egg. The news went around the world. Josephine and Crip started talking turns sitting on the nest. It wasn't long before she tossed Crip out, however, and monopolized operation incubation. Thirty-two days later the first whooping crane to be born in captivity was hatched. In a couple of days he could be seen running around in the 150-acre enclosure with his parents whooping along after him. But one morning a few days later there was no Rusty, as he had been named. It is believed he was killed.

Discovery of Old Coins Revives Pirate Stories

ASBURY, N.J. — The discovery of 35 gold and silver coins of Spanish, French and English issue dating from 1702 to 1794 at Asbury Park has revived legends of pirate treasure supposed to have been buried along that section of the Atlantic coast. They were discovered in an excavation being made about 300 feet from the ocean shore. The municipal superintendent of maintenance said the money was in what evidently had been an old leather pouch which was badly decayed. The coins evidently had been brought to the surface by a power shovel being used in the excavation.

Woman Sufferage

Dennis Morgan, screen star, tells the story about a swank club for men. One evening a dignified member walked in and was shocked to see women there for the first time. "What happened?" he asked the club owner. "We've decided to allow members to bring their wives in for dinner and dancing once a month," was the reply. "But that's not fair," complained the member. "I'm not married. Will I be permitted to bring my girl friend?" The owner thought for a minute and slowly replied: "I think it might be all right, provided she's the wife of a member!"

'Sinners' Donate $43 To Pay Preacher's Fine

CAMIBELLSVILLE — Tom Mered, who calls himself the "Highway and byway evangelist" was arrested and jailed for violation of the city's anti-loitering ordinance. He was later fined $10 and cost a total of $21.50. He was also fined $10 and cost on a second warrant charging breach of peace. After he was fined, he told Judge Robert Hord he would ask "the sinners to pay" his fine. He was permitted to go outside the court. From the crowd that had gathered he collected $43 to pay the fines and costs.

Lone Marine Holds Down Former Jap Base of Truk

NEW YORK — One lone United States marine sergeant holds the responsibility in seeing that law is enforced on an island in the Pacific. The island is Sergeant William W. Sims, of Bell Gardens, Calif. The island — Truk, a former Japanese stronghold. The sergeant holds drills and inspections to keep alert the small detachment of Truk policemen in his charge. As right-hand man, he selected Sergeant Ru, a native Trukese, who spreads the marine's commands to his men.

WAMBLES — WISE MARRIAGE

The marriage of Mrs. Leona Wambles and Mr. George Wise which took place on Tuesday, Aug. 1 at the home of Rev. O. M. Fox was of interest to a wide circle of friends. Rev. Fox performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom and a few close friends.

The bride chose for her wedding a powder blue crepe dress with which she wore black accessories. Her flowers were pink rose buds in shoulder corsage arrangement. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wise left for Panama City where they spent several days.

They are residing at their home on Brantley Road.

Miss Matt Main of Perote was a guest of Miss Genette Fleming last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Allred and daughter Betty returned from a 10 day visit to Johnson City and Gattensburg, Tenn. Miss Pat Allred returned with them. She had spent the past several weeks at Ridge Crest, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hudson of Haines City, Fla. and Mrs. Rudolph Tope and small sons of Dundee, Fla. visited relatives here and at Opp the past week. They, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hudson, spent the weekend in Mobile with Mr. and Mrs. Winford Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Willis and son, Mickel, came by here Saturday for Mrs. W. C. Willis to accompany them to Mobile to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. James Willis. Mrs. Willis' sister, Mrs. R. B. Coon and Mrs. M. D. Rigby and Mr. and Mrs. where she will spend this week. C. O. Anderson here.

Broken Cables On Sea Bottom Quarry of Ship

NEW YORK — Chasing down breaks in telephone and telegraph cables, at times as much as three miles below the surface of the sea, is the job of the steamship All America which pulled in to New York recently for supplies.

Capt. Frederick Hack, the skipper, reports all kinds of things can happen when the ship is looking for a break. One time, for instance, they sighted a big sperm whale thrashing on the surface, with three tons of weighty cable coiled around his body.

"He apparently had been feeding along the bottom at 400 fathoms and ran into our cable," Capt. Hack said. "A whale can't reverse and he kept pushing ahead and finally choked himself and drowned."

Locates Break

Communication stations detect a mishap to the cable and start a series of intricate electrical tests to determine whether it is a break or a flaw. They run down its location with uncanny accuracy. Then the 2 1/2 inch heads for the spot and usually hits it within a half mile. The ship then begins a series of tests to determine with various types of grapnels. "Sometimes it's pretty deep," the captain said. "The deepest I've worked is about three miles. You can rarely pull it up without a break as you're using a cable for 30 miles along the line. It breaks 50 per cent of the time."

The repair experts pay out cable at four to six knots, pick it up, or drag at a mile an hour with the series of "sheaves" which are reeled by heavy pulleys strung in tandem along the foredeck. A six foot drum of cable is used to lift the cable. In a storm, work ceases after the broken ends are attached to buoys.

Capt. Hack said that "you never know when a cable will go. Some lines lie on the bottom for 30 to 60 years without needing attention. While others develop repair needs a month after laying, due to damage or flaws."

Carries Miles of Cable

Coronado, vessels that bore like sea going lighthouses, chafing, imperfect manufacture — all are contributing causes.

The ship carries red leaded marker buoys, 30 miles of wire rope of 18 ton strength, 30 miles of heavy armored cable of three dimensions for different water depths, and a vast assortment of grapnels.

Under the main deck are wells into which the cable is coiled — 300 miles of it when the vessel is fully loaded.

Marine Warrant Officer Wins Annual Pistol Meet

QUANTICO, Va. — Mark W. Billings, marine warrant officer, recent by set a national record in the 45 caliber national match course during the annual pistol tournament held at Harrisburg, Pa. Billings scored a 295 out of a possible 300 without scoring any out of the nine ring to take the record established by Major Harry Reeves, a Detroit policeman. Reeves allowed two hits in the eight ring in his firing for the record. In addition to the record, Billings took first in the 38 caliber timed fire with a possible 200 and the 22 caliber rapid fire match. He took second place in the 38 caliber aggregate, scoring 888.

Billings is the present holder of the Lauchheimer trophy that is annually fired for in all-Marine Corps rifle and pistol competition. The trophy goes to the marine who fires the highest aggregate score of rifle and pistol.

Americans Neglect Their Teeth, Survey Reveals

PRINCETON, N. J. — Americans are neglecting their teeth, a national survey has revealed. According to the survey almost one adult in every two, or more than 45 million people, have not been to a dentist within the past two years, and some 30 million of these have not been in over four years.

And believe it or not, about 4,000, 000 of these adults have never been to the dentist. The survey reports that as for going to a medical doctor, 29 per cent of adults, or about 28, 000,000 people, have not done that in the past two years. The survey showed a higher proportion of women than of men visiting a doctor or dentist within recent months. A higher proportion of men than of women had stayed away from doctors for four years or more.

Cab Driver Rewarded $1 For Returning $1,000

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Honesty must be its own reward — so believes James Young, a cab driver. Young found a purse containing more than $1,000 a woman passenger left in the back seat of his cab. His reward? One dollar, less the sixty cents it cost him to drive out to return the purse.

Trussed Up Wife Changes Mind About Getting Divorce

SEATTLE — Robert Johnson, a traffic investigator for Boeing Airplane Company, was determined his wife was not going to get a divorce. He was so determined, he tied her up.

It happened like this: They had not been getting along too well, so he trussed her up and tossed her into the family automobile, vowing he would take her back to Okanogan, Minn., their former home, and end the divorce nonsense. He took along their 18 month old son.

On the way they had an accident. Mrs. Johnson was taken to a hospital, not badly hurt. Johnson was taken to jail, where he was held for reckless driving.

At the hospital her first questions were about her uninjured son and husband. Then she offered to bail him out.

"Might even move back to Minnesota with him, too," she added.

Three Worst Things

Franklin D. Roosevelt was once asked the three worst things in life. He answered: "A great wife, a great son, and a great country."

In The Flower Bed? Frankie caught his cold sleeping next to an open window.

Well, that's silly. Couldn't he have closed the window? It wouldn't have done any good. He was on the outside of the house.

Purple with Wrath Shopper — "I was to have met my husband here an hour ago. Have you seen him?"

Floorwalker — "Possibly, madam. What characteristic would serve to distinguish him?"

Shopper (dame) — "Well, he probably is purple by now."

WIENER ROAST

Police Officer Alec Strickland assisted by Dick Dorman, superintendent of the city water and electric departments, entertained the luncheon policemen and a number of other guests at a wiener roast, held at the city swimming pool last Thursday evening. Those in attendance besides Messrs. Strickland and Dorman were:

Bert English, Robert Newton, Elliott Kendrick, Jack Parker, A. C. Brunson, Charles Ellis, Richard Head, Fred Tillman, Colla English, Dorothy Harper, Nina Hudson, Mary Jo Bryan, Annie Jim Dorman and Mary Ann Clark.

Miss Clarice Barnes of Fayette is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kendrick this week.

Woman Sufferage

Dennis Morgan, screen star, tells the story about a swank club for men. One evening a dignified member walked in and was shocked to see women there for the first time. "What happened?" he asked the club owner. "We've decided to allow members to bring their wives in for dinner and dancing once a month," was the reply. "But that's not fair," complained the member. "I'm not married. Will I be permitted to bring my girl friend?" The owner thought for a minute and slowly replied: "I think it might be all right, provided she's the wife of a member!"

Building Materials SIDING ADDS BEAUTY

There are two excellent reasons why it will pay you to put attractive siding on your house. One is that it will add greatly to its appearance. The other, and perhaps most important, is that this type of siding acts as insulation. The original cost is low and because of its insulating qualities it will pay for itself in a short period of time. Call anytime for estimates.

We have in stock at the present time a good selection of house paint. It is high quality paint made of the best materials. Its long-lasting luster will add to the appearance of your home for years. If painting, come in and see us. Wide choice of colors.

Give a lot of thought to your plumbing, whether remodeling or building a new home. Our fixtures will retain that "new" look for years to come. Consult us for all your plumbing needs. We will get the fixture, if it is available.

ELBA MOTOR COURT

F. H. Murphy is building a modern equipped tourist court, known as Elba Motor Court. It is located on the west side of Troy highway, about a mile north of Elba court house. One building of six units is nearing completion and another of two units and a store room are well under way. They are of concrete block construction with plastered floors and plastered walls.

Each room has a private bath, sanitary connections, electric lights, hot and cold water, gas, etc. Mr. Murphy stated that he plans to add another six unit building as soon as the other structures are completed. The spacious court between the buildings will be beautified. He also plans to build a small apartment building on the front of the lot for the accommodation of the caretaker.

NEW TRAILER WRECKED

Blm and Tootie Sulliford of Miami, Fla., brought a large Dorey trailer van to the plant Monday for repairs. The van, which was bought recently by the Miami Dorey dealer, was wrecked in Virginia when it overturned in attempting to miss a school bus loaded with children. It was badly damaged. The Messers Sulliford delivered another large van.

KILLS LARGE RATTLER

Dorothy Roberts brought a large rattlesnake to Elba last Thursday. She killed on route one. The serpent was over five feet in length but had no fangs. Rattlesnake authorities say that the old theory that a rattler has a little for each year of its age is erroneous, as they shed them or they are knocked off at intervals. Mr. Roberts' snake would seem to prove the statement.

Can't Even Fight in Peace

Two men were brought before a judge for fighting in the street. Couldn't this case be settled out of court? asked a judge.

"That's what we were doing," answered one of the combatants, "when the cop pinched us."

His Own Shakespeare

W. S. Gilbert of light opera fame was always full of whimsies. At the Garrick club one evening he made the astounding statement that Shakespeare was a very good writer. His statement was immediately protested by most of those present, and he was asked to prove it.

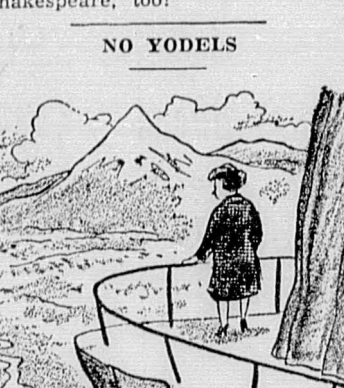

NO YODELS

"Well," said Gilbert, "what do you make of this passage?"

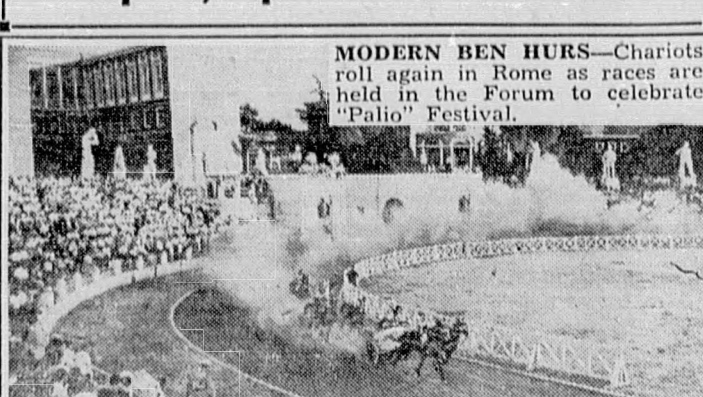

"I would as lief be thrust through a quicket hedge as a cry 'plish' to a calloo thrille."

"There's nothing obscure in that," said one member. "It's perfectly clear. Here's a man, a great lover of the feathered songsters, who rather than disturb the caroling of the little warbler prefers to go through the intense pain of thrusting himself through a thorny hedge. But I don't know that passage. In what play does it occur?"

"In no play," said Gilbert. "I've just invented it. And jolly good Shakespeare, too!"

Museum Determines Value of Pictures

By X-Ray Methods

NEW YORK—Every year hundreds of people throughout the country dig old pictures out of their attics and many of their finds are "fakes" or "restored" pictures. The restoration department to determine their value.

Fifty percent of the "masterpieces" examined by the museum are found to be practically worthless.

The restoration service is offered at cost, Sheldon Keck, head of the department, reports. The charge ranges from $6 to as high as $100 a painting, depending on the amount of work involved.

"People think an X-ray will tell them everything about a picture, but it's not so simple as that," he said. Technical evidence must be weighed together with stylistic analysis and a historical study of the picture.

The department has some strange requests, too. A delicate situation was presented by a man who wanted to find out if the clothing in a portrait of a woman was added after the picture was originally completed. The man's fiancée, an artist's model, had given him the picture after telling him she had never posed in the nude. The museum reported laconically that the costume was of a later date than the rest of the picture and discreetly closed the case.

Even the most exhaustive study will sometimes produce only negative results. Keck reports. Recent tests of a picture said to be Raphael disclosed that one of the colors used was Prussian blue, a pigment unknown until 200 years after Raphael's death. The identity of the real artist is still a mystery.

In considering modern works of art, the artist himself is not to be trusted always. Renoir once swore he was not the painter of one of his own pictures. The painting had been stolen and the artist did not want the thief to profit by it.

A forged Picasso of the artist's "blue period" was an exception. X-rays showed the picture was painted over an abstraction. Picasso's "blue period" is known to have preceded his abstract painting. The artist later bore out the evidence by denying he had ever seen the picture before it was submitted to him.

Penny Postcard Pays Fine

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Andre Michel, Paris, France, was arrested recently for speeding. A week later the Cambridge district court received a post card signed by Michel in which he said he was sorry he couldn't be in court because he was on his way to France.

The card added: "I would like you to excuse me. I apologize and wish you a happy summer."

Judge Arthur P. Stone said with a smile, "I guess it wouldn't be very economical to extradite him."

Michel was a student at Harvard university.

Two friends met on Main Street. "Hello," said the first. "You look nice and tanned. Just get back from Florida?"

"Yes," answered the other, "and we have a great time for forty dollars a day, we stayed at the Roney Plaza."

"You mean Roney Plaza Plasma is blood?"

"Well, countered the first, "it's forty dollars a day barley water?"

"It had to be postponed," her husband explained. "The Grand, All-Powerful, Invincible Supreme Omnipotent Sovereign got beaten up by his wife."

How Have the Mighty Fallen?
The lady was sincerely interested in the many activities of her husband. "How come," she asked, "there's no lodge meeting to-night?"

"I had to be postponed," her husband explained. "The Grand, All-Powerful, Invincible Supreme Omnipotent Sovereign got beaten up by his wife."

About People and Things
By C. B. McDowell

17 RATTLES UNDER ONE LOG
J. H. Bullard, living about a mile from Clover Bridge Grove, was in Elba Aug. 17 and reported that he killed 17 rattlesnakes under one log the day before. He said his bulldog bayed at the snakes and they ran under the log. He shot two large ones with 12 rattles each and killed 15 small ones with a stick. The small snakes had a rattles and a button each.

Mr. Bullard said he and his snake-killing dog have killed something like 40 rattlesnakes the past three years and the dog has been bitten nine times. The first bite caused him to become quite sick but a dose of sweet milk, alum and raw eggs pulled him through. The next five bites made the dog sick, but the last three bites did not affect him much, as he had become practically immune.

PRAYER MEETING FOR WORLD PEACE SCHEDULED
There will be a special prayer service at the First Baptist Church at 4:15 o'clock Friday afternoon for world peace conditions. The public is invited.

County Wide Beauty Contest Set for Elba On September 11
Cash prizes await the winner of the county wide beauty contest to be held in Elba on Sept. 11 at the local Elba.

There will be prizes of $50, $25, $15 and $10 for the four high contestants, plus an expense paid trip to the state maid of cotton contest in Montgomery for the winner.

Girls, single and between the ages of 19 and 25, who want to contact the county agents office in Enterprise.

Business concerns are urged to enter contestants. No expense is involved. Public notice will be given all sponsors. Clubs and other organizations are permitted to make entries, also.

Members of the Coffee County Maid of Cotton Contest Committee are Ira Allen, Farm Bureau president and chairman of the contest; George Edwards, Elba Elba Clipper; Haywood Taylor, Taylor Warehouse, Elba; Ralph Davis, Bama Cotton Mill; Clayton Metcalf, Metcalf Tractor Co.; Mrs. Una Edwards, Production Credit Association and Homer Motter, Enterprise Banking Co.

It is reported that City Attorney Rowe has ruled that in order to be legal, the tax money must go to the city general fund, but it can be earmarked for any purpose desired. In talking with city officials it seems to be the consensus of opinion that representatives of the various interested organizations should appear before the city council at its next meeting and help the members decide the best way to administer the tax funds. It has been suggested that a committee be appointed composed of all interested parties.

Mayor L. P. Mullins said he had not been able to secure the necessary tax stamps as yet. They then will have to be sold to the wholesalers. Other procedure requiring time to be ironed out has to be handled, so there is plenty of time to get a satisfactory means of administering the money, he stated.

Wayland Young is proud of his families educational accomplishments this year. Mrs. Wayland Young graduated at State Teachers College, Troy, last week while her younger son Sam graduated from Elba High last spring. Her older son, Frank, is scheduled to graduate at Alabama University this week. Her husband, Wayland, WW 1 vet. is the only member of the family not getting a sheepskin during 1950.

Robert Marsh, while commenting on the slaughter of song birds in Elba said he did not think there was any harm in killing blue jays, and said killing through the body and emerging through the other wing. He said by all natural laws, the bird should have died, but although it couldn't fly it hopped away and he had considerable difficulty in catching it. He took it home.
